Hazardous Weather

The second half of your weekend will be another warm and humid one for you if you are grilling out for Father's Day today. Some isolated showers and thunderstorms will develop across the area again this morning and afternoon, which could drop some locally heavy rainfall. Temperatures will range from around 90 on the coast to the middle 90s in the Middle to Upper Valley.

Isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms will be possible today. Highs will be in the mid 80s to low 90s.

Hazardous Weather

Isolated to scattered thunderstorms will be possible this morning across south central Oklahoma and northern Texas.

Mostly cloudy skies with isolated showers and thunderstorms across the Victoria Crossroads and Coastal Bend to scattered storms across the Brush Country and Rio Grande Plains. Highs will range from the mid 90s west to upper 80 along the coast. A moderate Southeast wind can be expected today and mariners in small craft should exercise caution.
